

- With uncertain times currently and possible more uncertain times lying ahead of us – it’s very important that every restaurant should prepare for a worst case scenario
- Many years of work and untold investment has gone into building your brick-and-mortar business – this could suddenly be made worthless
- The loyal customers you’ve acquired over a long time may possibly be lost, if your doors close
- After the “pandemic storm” is over, you want to re-open – how will you know how to get in touch with your customers?

we help restaurants survive & thrive.

we help by...

- capturing customer data – emails, phone numbers, preferences
- providing your own online ordering Web App
- producing promotional videos to use in current and future promotion campaigns
- Doing ongoing social media marketing campaigns to keep your brand in front of customers
- managing all your online delivery platforms and presence to ensure cross-platform alignment (incl. Uber Eats, Doordash, etc.)
